PREAMBLE

This net meets every Sunday evening at 2100 hours and is open to all stations. Your net control is {YOUR CALL}, my name is {YOUR NAME} and I'm located in {YOUR LOCATION}. Are there any emergency messages?- If so, please call now."

ANNOUNCEMENTS
"Are there any stations with announcements or bulletins? - If so, please call now."

CLUB WEBSITE

GENERAL TRAFFIC
"At this time I'll stand by for stations looking to check into the net. Please use your full callsign. This is {YOUR CALL}."

Take up to five calls at a time; if you just have one or two and there is a substantial delay, take the ones you have – one at a time. Answer each person when they turn it back to net control and then proceed with the next check-in. When the current group is done, repeat the above request for more check-ins.

Someone may ask for a "recheck" if they have something to add to their previous comments. Usually take the recheck first before running down the next group of check-ins.

For a nice touch, when you have run out of check-ins, go back to the top of your list and ask each check-in if they have anything more. When all are finished, proceed to close the net for the night.

NET CLOSING
"Hearing no more check-ins we will bring this net to a close. For more information about the Bloomington Amateur Radio Association please check out our web site at www.mnhamradio.com. That's W-W-W dot M-N ham radio dot com. In closing, I wish to thank all stations who checked in and remind everyone that this net will meet again next Sunday at 2100 hours. I now return the repeater to normal operations. This is {YOUR CALL} clear."
